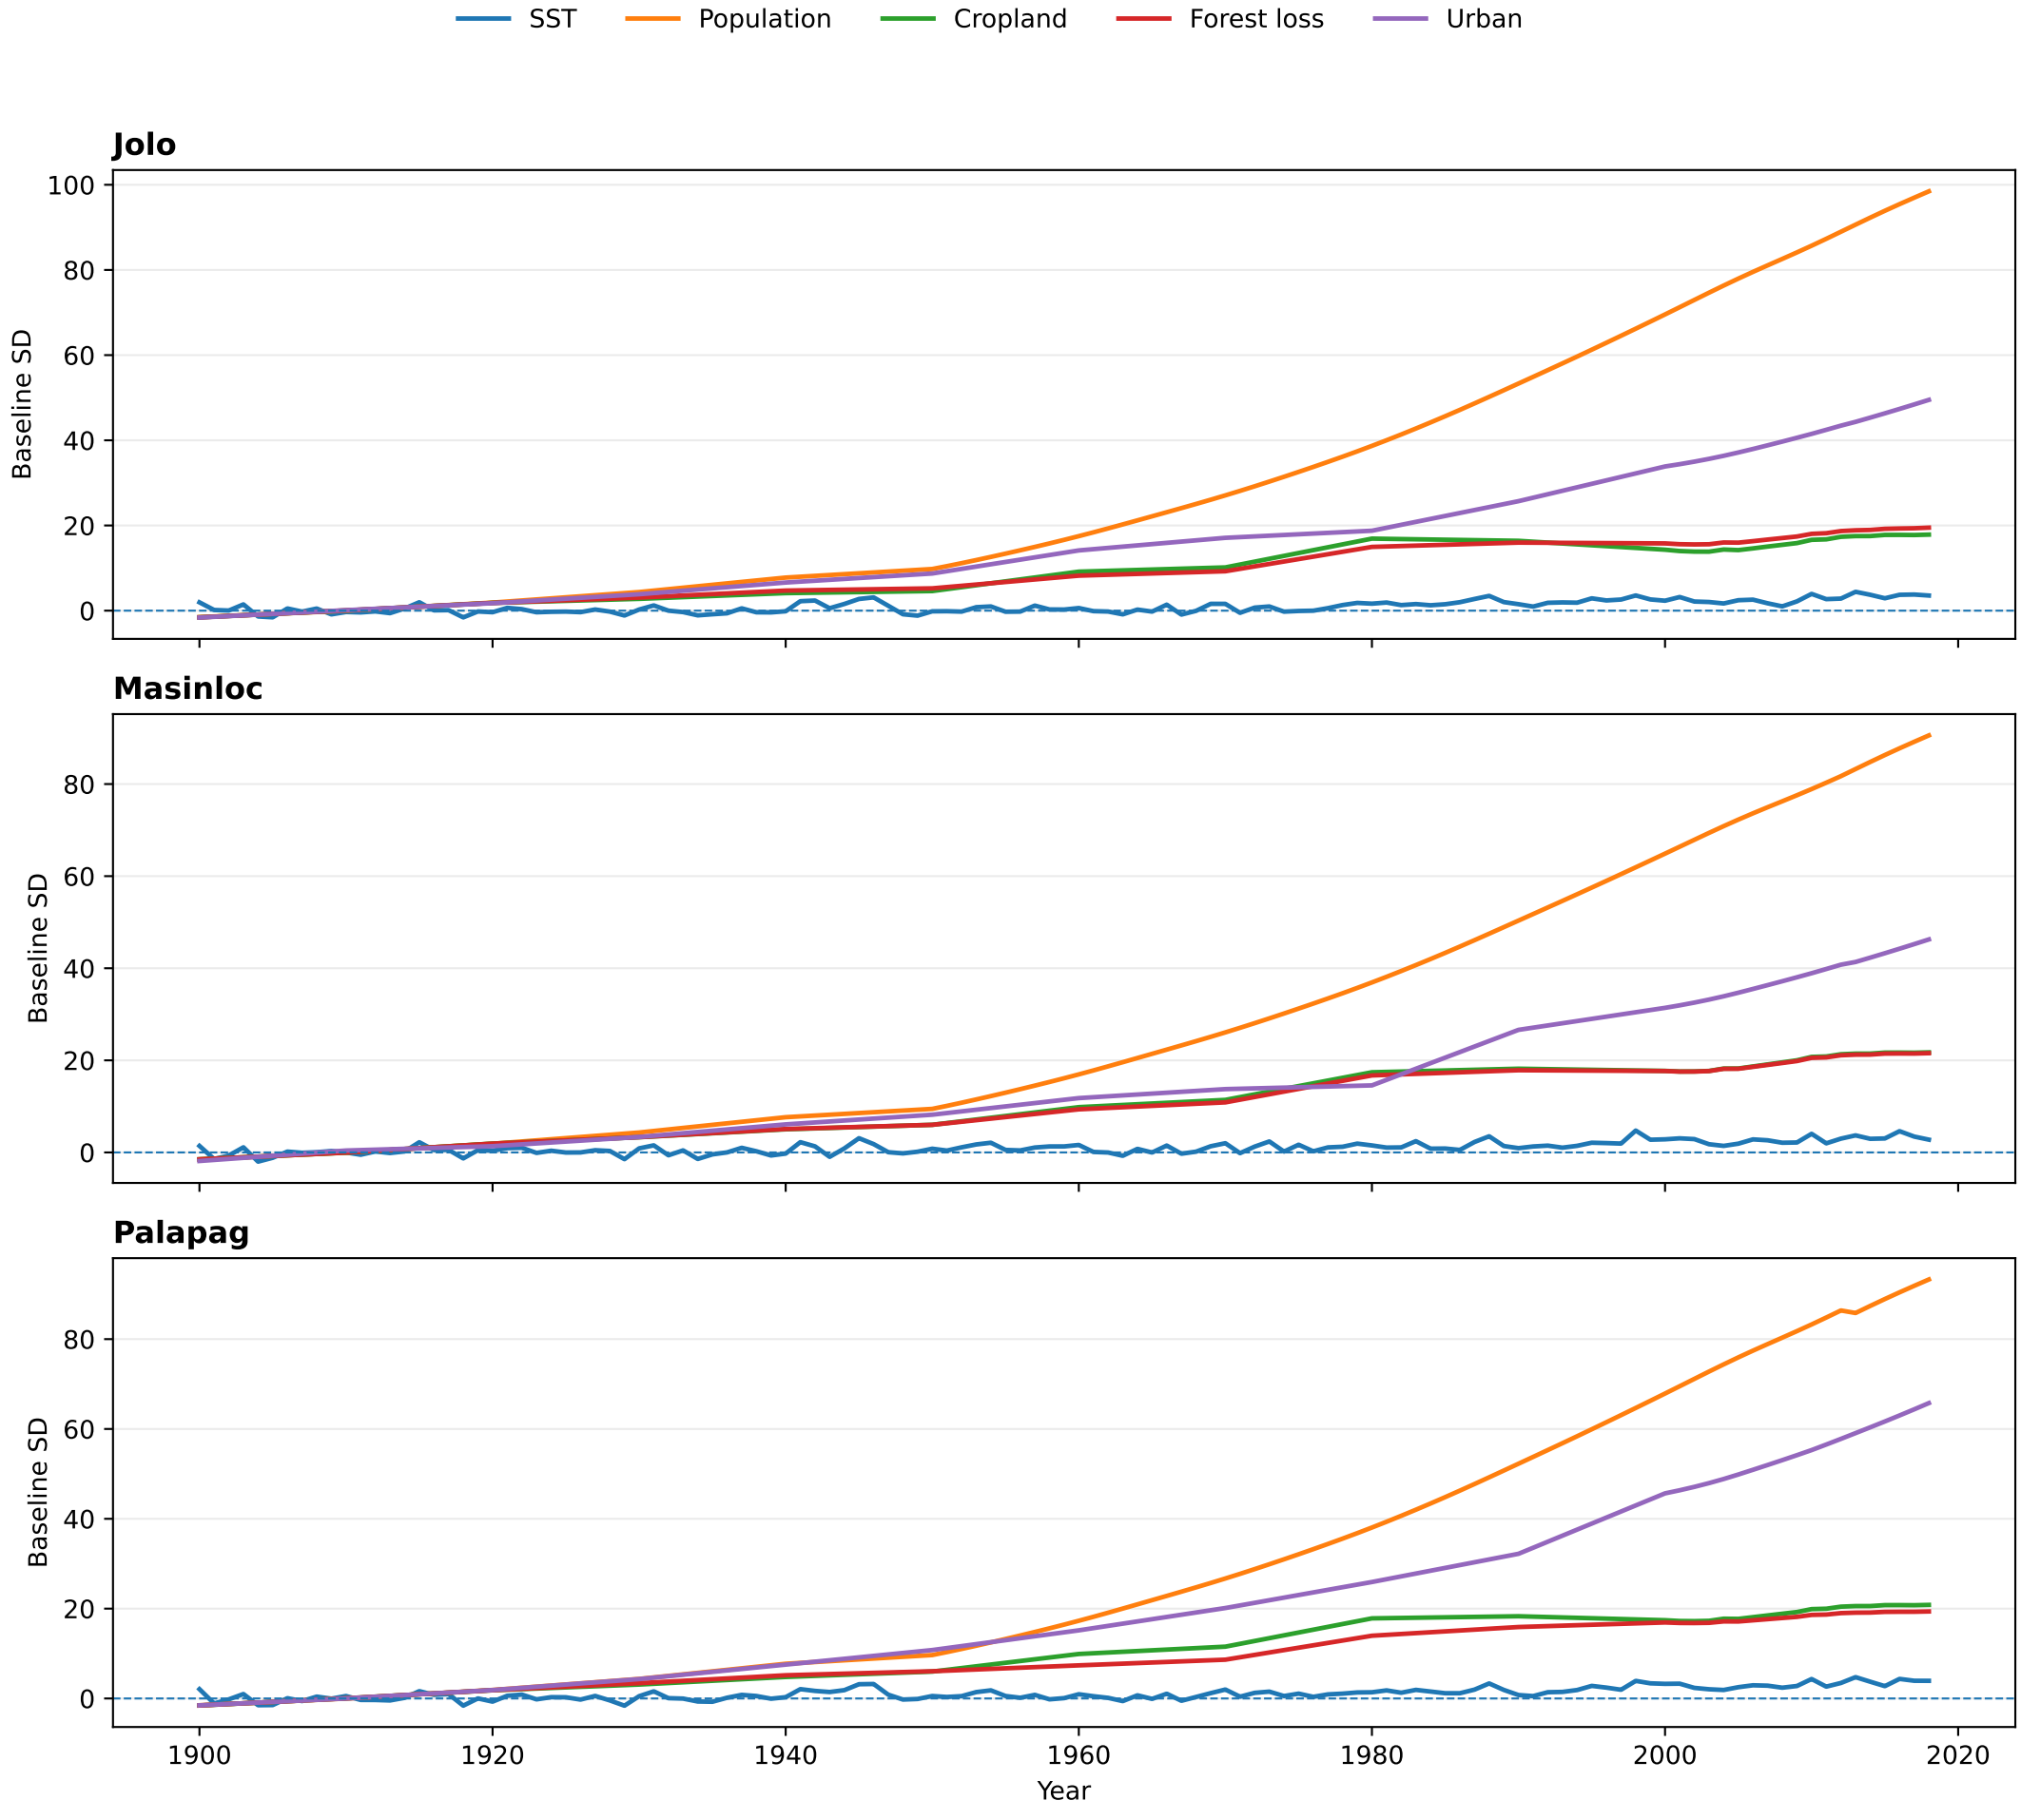
Site-specific historical environmental-pressure trajectories



Standardized relative to each site's 1900–1919 baseline. Positive forest-loss values represent declining forest/natural vegetation. High values are standardized departures, not equivalent ecological effect sizes.